

media release

12 November 2010

Do you deserve dinner on Domino's?

Domino's Pizza is dishing out dinner to deserving families in the lead up to Christmas.

"The Christmas period can be a stressful time for people and this year there have been a number of events such as the Canterbury earthquake and the recent flooding in Gisborne which will make it even harder for some," says Josh Kilimnik, General Manager of Domino's Pizza New Zealand.

"We want to help take the pressure off Kiwi families in the lead up to the holiday season by providing dinner on Domino's, delivered right to the door."

Domino's will give a Family Pack of three pizzas, three pastas and six desserts to three families each week in the lead up to Christmas, starting from 22nd November. Winners living outside Domino's Pizza delivery areas will be awarded a voucher redeemable at any New Zealand store.

People can choose to enter themselves or nominate a deserving family.

To enter, email dinner@dominospizza.co.nz with your name, address and phone number and tell them in 250 words or less why your family deserves dinner on Domino's. Entries are being accepted from 22 November running for four weeks.

About Domino's Pizza:

Domino's Pizza Enterprises Ltd and its franchisees have 80 stores across New Zealand, employing more than 1,500 part-time and full-time staff and making more than 5 million pizzas each year.

ENDS

Released on behalf of Domino's Pizza by DonovanBoyd PR.

For further information, contact:

Kelly Kilgour
DonovanBoyd PR
P: 09 379 2121 / 021 565 470
E: kelly@donovanboyd.co.nz